Re: Instructor Development

Dear Participant:

Thank you for registering for the WSCJTC Instructor Development Course. The instructors look forward to working with you during this challenging but rewarding week. To help you prepare for this course, I've put together an overview of what the week will include.

This class requires a high level of student participation. The course will start at 0800 each day. During the week, you will develop and deliver three (3) separate presentations on job-related topics. Students in previous classes have selected a wide variety of topics. You will be expected to present on at least one theory-based and one skills-based topic.

Theory-based lessons are information-oriented; they impart facts, knowledge, and factors in decision making. Some examples of previous students' theory based topics have included types of contraband, elements of a crime, dispatch prioritization, investigative protocols, types of counterfeiting, and flight-or-fight indicators.

Skills-based lessons are action-oriented; they teach how to physically complete a task. Topics might include cell searches, control techniques, defensive tactics moves, calibrating a piece of equipment, and chair exercises. Skills-based lessons have distinct steps that are followed in the performance of the skill.

The instructors will pre-approve topics in class and will evaluate each presentation. Some time has been built into the schedule to allow you to prepare for these presentations, however, please anticipate spending time outside of class preparing the presentations and doing other homework. Proper dress for delivering your presentations is business attire. Please consider these commitments prior to attending class.

Materials you are required to provide: easel chart markers in various colors, easel paper and a 4GB (or larger) secure digital (SD) card (small flat card used in cameras). Please make sure you bring these materials to class with you.

Other Materials that may help: laptop, multimedia projector (if you plan to use PowerPoint), portable printer, training aids, props you would be using in a classroom presentation (for your preferred topic areas if approved). Again, these are not required items.

The instructors look forward to meeting you. If you have any questions or need clarification on anything, please contact me at (425) 239-8322. Thank you for your attention and cooperation in this matter.

Sincerely,

Lee Brandt
